Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

President Roosevelt's appeal to the Supreme Court, in effect an invitation to get in step with the times, in many minds will raise interesting questions. Most of the justices have been on the bench through various regimes. Wilson introduced the "new freedom", Harding the "new normalcy", Coolidge and Hoover the "new era," but it remains for Roosevelt to gently prod the Supreme Court to get into step with the "new deal." Other Chief Executives refrained from asking the country's chief tribunal to follow the election returns. It will be remembered that the poor chameleon, changing colors on every kind of background, finally exploded when it was placed on a plaid.

Really to follow out the President's suggestions would give the Supreme Court far more power than it now exercises. The President suggested that the judiciary should "adapt" its "interpretations" to changing conditions. The only power the court now exercises is that of interpreting the Constitution as it is written. The additional power of "adapting" it to modern needs, would in effect, carry with it the power to change the meaning of the document at will, or even at whim, according to the varying complexion and recommendations of Congress and the Executive.

The people of this country change their sentiments and their objectives rapidly. It was not so long ago that everybody was keeping cool with Coolidge. Under Roosevelt we are headed for drastic, not to say radical, changes in several unexplored directions. Far from keeping cool, a very large proportion of the people are all "het up." There needs to be some stabilizing influence, analogous in the social and political field, to the "governor," a device in the mechanical field, that formerly permitted a steam engine to let off steam when the pressure got too high, and prevented thereby an explosion.

The communists of course make the anvil ring in their denunciations of the United States Supreme Court. Ultra liberalists, known as "pinks" for short, have grown a bit red in the face recently. The Supreme Court reversed the conviction of a communist under the Oregon syndicalism law, ringingly affirming his civil liberties. The court also reaffirmed freedom of speech, as tested by members of the communist party.

Some time ago communists made the welkin ring when the Supreme Court refused to reverse the conviction of Mooney and Billings in California. A circular was prepared denouncing the tribunal as a fascist institution which denied the rights of poor laborers. Just as this circular went to press, the court reversed the conviction of the Scottsboro brothers, a case in which the reds were much interested. The presses were stopped but no apology made.

In Washington the facial contortions of John L. Lewis are being studied with some care. Wags insist that he practices Mussolini gestures and grimaces before the glass every morning. Possibly this man fancies himself as an aspirant for the post of the nation's chief executive. But we have never been able to take him seriously in that role. His province and his chief service to the people of this country we surmise will be to revolutionize capital and labor relations. Out of the present loggerheads in the motor industry and looming in the steel industry, we believe a means will be found to prevent strikes, just as means has been found in the railroad business. Lewis is a specialist of a sort, with tremendous prejudices, natural enough to a man of his experience in labor matters. But in choosing a President the people of this country have never chosen one who could see only one side of an argument. A labor dictator could ruin this country with exactly the same facility as a capitalistic dictator.

Edw. C. Uren Replies To Frank Crampton

(By EDW. C. UREN)

The writer was not greatly surprised at Mr. Crampton's attitude on the Bear River situation, although it is an occurrence as rare as a purple moon to find a man who, when given a swift kick in the pants, figuratively turns the other cheek.

Mr. Crampton, operating the Remington Hill, together with the You Bet Co. and the Liberty Hill Co. were the three bad boys that the P. G. & E. set out to discipline in 1935.

But Mr. Crampton sat in and smoked the pipe of peace with the chiefs of the utility and, by special dispensation, has been permitted to do a little mining, albeit with certain restrictions. And I am inclined to believe that Mr. Crampton is conspicuous by being about the only person in good standing with the utility because they refused to sell from 50 to 100 inches of water to a mechanical gravel operation at Dutch Flat last summer, thus throwing several men out of employment, and even refused to sell as little as five inches of water to a drift mine just below the town.

Mr. Crampton, ever ready with the whitewash, sets out now to tell us that the early miner, even though he had used the river for 50 years before the birth of the P. G. & E. has no more rights than a pole cat in a beauty parlor and about all the emasculated property owners of that region can do is to stand along the banks of the river and wail "We Aint Got Nobody to Blame But Ourselves."

This is not the first time however that Mr. Crampton has tried to temper some bitter facts with the whitewash brush. In the December 15th issue of the Arizona Mining Journal, he attempts to justify the exorbitnant compensation rate in California;, highest in the United States and the greatest detriment to mine financing there is.

The writer recently asked a prominent official of one of the larger mining companies, which carries its own insurance and employs several hundred miners, how much the actual cost of insurance was. He promptly replied $2.38. The state charges $13.40 for the same coverage.

Mr. Crampton takes issue with the writer and says the matter of the decision against the mine operators should be viewed in a sane and logical manner. This is exactly what we have attempted to do, but not being able to view the issue through the utilities rose colored glasses, as has Mr. Crampton, we find we do not agree in just about everything, and as for aur not having made a proper study of the situation all we can say is that we have been in close touch with this region for the past fifty years and certainly should understand it as well as Mr. Crampton.

Insofar as quoting the law and Mr. Ricketts on the covering of a neighbors ground with debris etc.; that was threshed out years ago and remedied by the Caminetti law.

Obviously, if a utility, by divine right, takes over your sewer and uses it to run drnking water through you will have to disconnect your toilet. Even a resident of Rocklin, who complained of the muddy water being furnished for domestic purposes, said in an open letter to a Sacramento paper "We do not blame the hydraulic miner for this condition, the blame rests with the P. G. & E." Here was a man evidently acquainted with the real facts.

Some court divisions—even some interpretations of the law, do not always run in the same groove with common, orse-sense judgment, as for instance, the fact that in January, 1916, after agreements had been entered into between some of the owners of the river and the P. G. E. for the right to run 14,000 inches of water in the river, the P. G. & E. sold to the You Bet Mining Company the placer mining claims it had inherited from the old South Yuba Water Company in Sections 29, 30, 31 and 36, near You Bet.

It is patent that the claims were not sold to raise fruit on but for the purpose of mining. Then, in 1935 judgement to the tune of $126,000 was obtained against the You Bet Company for attempting to realize something from their mines, and if the property is taken for this debt—and I presume it will be—with the water diverted from the river at the miner's expense, the utility will be able to sell the property again. This, in a business way, is a master stroke. It will be approved as legal; but if any business man were so unethical as to do such a thing his standing among his associates would certainly not rate very high.

Mr. Crampton, in order to lessen the imulied stigma of the Liberty Hill Company having to fork over their property to the utility, says that such a transfer was a "voluntary" act on the part of the mining company. And "voluntary" means "of their own free will." But in my conversation at different times with the owners of the mine I judged by their remarks that the gift carried with it the "hope you choke" wish and was about as voluntary on their part over their purse to a stick up man who held a gun in their ribs.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Co. do not own complete title to Bear River as there are some owners who have sold only the flowage.

Mr. Crampton has given us quite a dissertation on the divine rights of the utility as opposed to the lowly status of the miners, but for some reason he neglects entirely to show or make any excuse for the NECESSITY for the use of Bear River as a conduit; nor has he even spoken of the waste of a natural resouce by not taking advantage of fall of the water. Is it possible he has no valid argument against this?

In order to take advantage of the long delayed opportunity to mine and to store their tailings in the proposed Dog Bar dam, it is now proposed that the government furnish the funds to build the diversion canal, presumably from a point just above Dutch Flat to the head of the Bear River canal.

The diversion canal, instead of being 9 miles in length, will be about 18, in accordance with a survey made some thirty years ago by the writer for the South Yuba Water Company.

This canal will cost about $30,000 a mile, exclusive of rights of way, which the mine owners will be taxed to pay for in addition to the storage rates. Then, I suppose the P. G. & E. will take advantage of the free construction to utilize the power. All of which again, will be perfectly legal and I presume in full accord with Mr. Crampton's conception of what is fair play for the long suffering miners.

The P. G. & E. have not only completely stopped all hydraulic mining and made it impossible to even comply with the state debris laws, but they are attempting to destroy even the small drifting operations. Can you blame those who own mining property for going on the warpath?

CIVIC CLUB WILL MEET ON MON. AFTERNOON

The Nevada City Woman's Civic club will hold its regular fourth Monday of the month meeting on Monday, January 25. Regular business of the club will be taken care of and plans for the spring term will be discussed. The meeting Monday will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Nye on Broad street and will begin at 2:30 in the afternoon. Due to the cold, uncertain weather it was thought that there would be a better attendance if the meeting were held in the afternoon. Mrs. Nye very generously offered her home and it is hoped that all members will attend.

JOHNSON WILL GO TO PRISON 1 TO 10 YEARS

Lawrence Johnson convicted of manslaughter by the jury on Tuesday was yesterday sentenced to San Quentin from one to ten years. This is the statutory penalty for this offense. Sheriff Tobiassen stated yesterday that Johnson will be removed to San Quentin today.

On October 7 Johnson in a sudden rage killed his wife Mary Johnson, who, he alleged was drunk and was calling him vile names at the time. The jury was out eleven hours before arriving at a verdict.

In charging the jury before it retired to deliberate Judge Raglan Tuttle said:

"In my opinion there is very little justification for this homicide. That is my opinion, but it is not binding upon you. I can not see that the defendant in this case has produced any evidence which is legal justification or excuse.

"Of course there is some evidence that might justify a verdict of manslaughter. That is a matter for you to determine, if you believe the act was done in the heat of passion.

"Referring to the matter of malice there is undoubtedly evidence in this case that the defendant bore toward his wife considerable malice. He had felt ill will against his wife. There is no question about that.

"You have a right to take into consideration the subsequent acts of the defendant in the case. Has he shown any remorse? There is very little evidence to show that he expressed any sorrow for the deed. When he was on the witness stand was there any indication to you that he had any remorse for the killing of his wife? That is for you to determine.

"In my opinion there is no evidence in this case which would justify a verdict of not guilty. All the evidence that has been placed before you he admits that he did it and then it becomes your duty to determine whether he did it in the heat of passion, and to decide whether or not there is justification for that killing.

"The mere fact that he was angry at her does not in itself mean the heat of passion and that in itself does not amount to justification. There must be something more than that.

"As I told you in the instructions, it must be the action of a man under ordinary circumstances, not this particular man. You have before you to determine the question of whether the defendant acted in the heat of passion and whether the ordinary man would have done the same thing under similar circumstances. It is not what the defendant did, but what a prudent man would do. If you believe that the ordinary prudent man would have taken the pistol and shot his wife, it would be evidence of manslaughter."

HARD FREEZE CLOSES SCHOOLS

Both high and grammar schools were closed yesterday and will be closed today by order of the board of education. Lack of water, due to the shutting off of city mains and the mounting absences of students, out of school because of cold and flu, are reasons given by the board for its action. The water situation is such the furnaces in the schools can not operate nor can there be adequate sanitary provisions for students. Absences in the high school were counted at over seventy Thursday before school was turned out in the morning.

TWENTY CUBS

Clifford Merriam, Cub Scout Master, stated he has 20 Cubs in his pack and all of them are showing great enthusiasm for their work. Even during the cold weather from a half to more than that number appear at Seaman's Lodge in Pioneers Park for their work.

Survey Reveals 2682 Employed In Mines

A survey of the mining industry in Nevada county shows a small recession in the number of men employed. Part of this is due to the extreme cold which on some properties has resulted in curtailing operations somewhat. Four of the smaller properties have closed down temporarily and on some of the others there has been a reduction in the number of men.

Excellent reports are received from Giant King, which is temporarily closed because of the heavy snow. The Giant King is at the bottom of the canyon adjacent to Washington. Reports indicate that a considerable tonnage of excellent ore has been blocked out.

The survey reveals 2682 men employed in Nevada county mines.

BRUSH CREEK MINE

Operations ceased at the Brush Creek mine last fall and only a watchman is at the property. The company which holds an option from F. F. Cassidy and others of Nevada City, plans to start operations April first. The mine is west of Alleghany and has a rich past production record, much high grade having been mined from time to time.

VALLEY MINES

A small crew has been employed since last summer reconditioning the properties of the Valley Mines company in Willow Valley east of Nevada City. Drifting has started in the St. Louis tunnel. Thomas Cole and son, Fred Cole, of southern California are in charge of the Valley Mines.

HOW TO KEEP OUT OF NEXT WAR ROTARY THEME

Elmer Stevens, of the Grass Valley high school faculty, was the guest speaker yesterday at the Rotary luncheon. He talked on the prospect of keeping the United States out of the next war, and declared that the present neutrality act, was a long step toward that goal. He stated that a neutrality act to be effective must prohibit sending arms and munitions, halt all loans and credits, and stop the export of war contraband, such as copper, steel and cotton, to all belligerents. If the United States could enforce such an embargo, Stevens believed, this country could maintain its neutrality.

Following the luncheon the Rotary's Boy Scout committee met and elected Andrew Larsen chairman. It was agreed that the committee would help organize the second troop of Nevada City Scouts and that the six members would rotate in attendance on troop meetings.

SICK MAN REMOVED FROM HIS TENT HOUSE

Reported to the authorities to be confined to his tent house home on the Willow Valley road with illness, Fred Parkinton was found to be in a serious condition by Sheriff C. J. Tobiassen, George Calanan and Probation Officer A. W. McGagin. He was taken in the Holmes ambulance to the Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley for treatment.

Civil War Next Door

After six months of watching the bloody civil conflict in Spain, America is awakening to the infinitely more disquieting prospect of a fascist-communist death struggle right next door.

Mexico may very well be on the road to revolution.

Our State Department, according to one Washington correspondent, considers the situation below the Rio Grande "extremely tense and uncertain." And while a revolution more or less in that land of intrigue and upreaval, may seem nothing to get unduly excited about, what looms this time is different. Look at Spain and you'll see why.

The Mexican government, like the Spanish, is leftist. President Lazero Cardenas and his party came into power in 1934 declaring that their ultimate aim was to overthrow captialism. As in Spain, they are expropriating estates and distributing the land. And as in Spain, there is a powerful fascist- military group violently opposed to them.

One can understand why the United States State Department is worried. If this powder keg explodes, will we keep "hands off," or will we intercede? How far would we go to keep European fascist or communist groups from pitching in? These are problems worth thinking about.

The threatened Mexican upheaval may remain only a battle of words. Let's hope so. But above all, let us guard against mentally supporting one or the other of the extremist factions next door.

America wants none of the doctrine of either. — Contributed.

The Governor's Budget

Back in the good old days when budgets were budgets, California's legislature used to pay heed to the Governor's fiscal recommendations.

But times have changed. Observers unanimously predict that the law-makers at Sacramento will pay little attention to the Governor's new budget for the 1937-39 biennium.

Everyone expects them to boost the estimates on expenditures, on the theory that by dishing out more money they can gain more political favor than through any program of tight-fisted economy. Mounting revenues are supposed to make bigger outlays possible without any change in the present tax structure.

Certainly "the boys" don't intend to levy any new taxes, at least of the visible variety that are plainly new burdens on a public already taxed to the breaking point. That would be political dynamite.

But if the yen to spend more gets out of hand, it could lead to a worse evil, namely "backdoor" taxation. It could force the legislature to search for indirect or "hidden" sources of revenue. And such a search always leads to intolerable misuse of the tax power. In hopes of getting a nibble of revenue here and a nibble there, all the fanstastic schemes are given a hearing, all the grudge taxes, all the discriminatory taxes, and the levies proposed by special pressure groups. Occasionally a few pass, and then there is the devil to pay.

Is heavier spending inevitable? Seasoned observers say so. But the people may yet have something to say about it. Maybe the unexpected will develop in the form of a clamorous public protest.

Or is this too much to hope for? It is up to us—to all of us.—Contributed.

Two Kinds Of Gold

To many Californians, next Sunday will be just another lull between weeks, interesting chiefly because it is a day of rest. But to those who remember their dates, the day will call up thoughts of the most momentous moment in the history of California.

It was on the clear, cold morning of January 24 just eighty-nine years ago that James Marshall discovered gold at Sutter's mill. The find ruined him, for later he died in abject poverty, and it ruined his employer, Sutter, as well. But it made California.

As the historian Hittel put it, "Though that discovery was an accident and not the result of any special merit on his (Marshall's) part, still he was the man who in fact unlocked the great treasure-house and opened the door for that tide of immigration which has founded the new empire upon the Pacific.

Within a year after the discovery, the greatest human stampede ever known was under way. By covered wagon they came across the continent, by pack train through the Isthmus of Panama jungles, and by boat around the Horn—wave after wave of sturdy, adventurous men, all lured by the magic word "gold."

We owe much to those early settlers of '49 and '50. The pioneering spirit of them lives on as the driving force behind the progress of California along a road that leads to another kind of gold.

It is the gold of achievement, of abundance and enlightenment, and the gold of human happiness.—Contributed.

A Belated Resolution

(By Clayton Rand)

If I were a business men and were doing some "resoluting" for the New Year, I'd first look one fact square in the face—business will be better in 1937.

Then, believe it or not, I'd figure out some way to present my story to the public intelligently and effectively through my local newspaper, and cash in on this increased prosperity.

The federal government has primed the business pump until we have more inflation than we had before the crash of 1929.

Business won't be good forever, but a man that can't make some money under present conditions might as well fold up his tent and look for a permanent berth on the public dole.

MINING NEWS

MINING LEASE

Hector McNeil and associates have leased the Weeds Point hydraulic propertry to J. A. Cassano of Camptonville. It is a well equipped mining property and considerable virgin ground remains to be worked.

SPRING HILL

Twelve men are employed under Superintendent Don Carlos Billick in driving a drift on the 1100 foot level in the Spring Hill mine northeast of Hills Flat. Ore mined in drifting operations is being milled in the big plant on the property. Options on several adpoining properties several months ago added several hundred acres of ground to the Spring Hill- Golden Gate property owned and operated by W. Lakenan and associates.

CITY BELL

A tunnel is being driven on the Carey brothers property on Grove street to contact the veing on the City Belle property. A 50 foot shaft on the Dulac ground up on the slope above Deer Creek revealed about a two foot vein of ore carrying good values. James Allen is in charge and has several men employed. After considerable hard work some soft ground has been controlled and the tuunel is in about 150 feet.

RUSSELL LEASE

Warren Russell has leased his mining property near the Black Oak mine to L. H. Baker of Reno, Nevada, who will start development at once. A satisfactory test has been made of six tons of ore from the Ivanhoe and Slocan claims owned by Russell and located a mile northwest of Grass Valley. The ore was mined from a five foot vein only 15 feet from the surface.

MIDAS

The Idaho-Maryland Mines company who are operating the Midas mine at Forbestown, are building a 200 foot long and 15 feet high tailings dam. J. E. Ehrhorn is superintendent. Seventy men are employed and ore is reduced in the 300 ton mill on the property. Miners at the mine and Oroville business men have petitioned Butte county supervisors for a better road to the mining ground. The Iaho-Maryland company has purchased several properties in the Forbestown district.

OPERATING IN SISKIYOU

J. B. Hills was in Nevada City Wednesday visiting friends. With several others he has been operating the McKinley mine in Siskiyou county east of Yreka. A 600 foot cross cut is being driven to strike pay ore. Cold weather closed the mine a few weeks ago. An old five-stamp mill driven by water power is on the property.

MURCHIE

The Newmont Mining Company has purchased the North Banner group of claims south of the Murchie mine, and the Bridges property. The latter gives the company new holdings between Nevada City and the mine. It is understood miners continue to raise in the new shaft. Sinking for this shaft started at the 1300 foot level several months ago.

GIANT KING

Heavy snow is causing delay in mine operations at the Giant King mine at Washington. This mine was reopened last fall after having been closed down for many years While Superintendent Jack Rondoni is able to go and come in his light car, heavy machines can not get to the mine The company expects to start trucking ore next week if weather permits and 50 tons per day will be trucked to the Queen Lil mill at Nevada City for reduction. It is stated the contract calls for 500 tons of ore per month from this mine. Ore will be taken from the 1100 ft. lower tunnel when trucking starts. A large body of ore has been blocked out and considerable reconditioning in the different tunnels completed.

MT. VIEW

The road to the Mt. View mine west of Washington on the South Yuba river was cleared of snow in the last few days in order to take in lumber and supplies for continued work. C. White, superintendent has been in southern California for several days.

MABEN HILL

A shaft is being sunk on the Maben Hill property near Grass Valley and is down 130 feet. There is an old 85 foot shaft on the property.

HI FACULTY GOES SKIING

Faculty of the high school held a skiing party at the Nevada City Ski course yesterday afternoon. Most of the faculty has taken up skiing and within the last few weeks they have practiced on the gentle slopes of "Godetia" home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hobbie.

NORAMBAGIA AND PERRIN

Cleaning the old shaft has progressed to the 400 foot level in the incline shaft at the Norambauia and Perrin property southeast of Grass Valley. In three weeks the company expects to strike water 80 feet below the present operations. Considerable difficulty is being experienced with bad ground on the 400 foot level, but it is thought the shaft will be found intact at the water level. The hoist is being reconditioned and the old mill building torn down and rebuilt. The company is employing 25 men in three shifts. Marshall Draper is superintendent of the property.

SAN JUAN MINE

Ray Butterfield is superintendent of the San Juan mine, where between 15 and 20 men are employed in drifting and mining ore. Trucks are hauling ore to Nevada City for shipment to the Bradley's reduction plant near Seattle. Things look very bright for this big property at this time.

ATLASTA

Ten men are employed one shift under H. A. Griffen sinking an additional 250 feet in the old 75 foot shaft at the Atlasta property south of Grass Valley. Ore mined at this time assays well.

PENNSYLVANIA

Drifting is progressing in the Pennsylvania mine at Brown's Valley. The newly installed mill is treating ore. Elsworth Bennett is superintendent. About 40 men are employed.

From Aunt Sarah

Aunt Sarah has decided to hold back the dainty dessert recipes she has been planning to give for the "compauy" dinners and publish another of the "heat producing" type. One almost shivers to read a recipe for a frozen dessert these days.

Stuffed hamburger is a whole meal in one. If you have school boys to feed, double the recipe and warm it up in the oven for lunch, they will greet it gaily.

Stuffed Hamburger

One and one-half pounds hamburger.
One pint tomatoes.
One green pepper.
Two onions.
Two stalks celery.
One egg.
Two cups bread crumbs.

Place hamburger on waxed paper and pat out about one inch thick. Season this with salt and pepper, add a little garlic as desired.

Mince the onions and celery and fry in butter.

Make a dressing with the bread crumbs, fried onions, celery, egg, seasoning, (sage, pepped, salt) add about a tablespoon of milk or stock.

Heap the dressing in the center of flattened hamburger, place upside down in small baking pan or casserole, "tuck in the sides," cover with tomatoes, diced green pepper and onions. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Slices of bacon may be placed on top of the meat if desired. Serve directly from casserole piping hot.

CHAMBER URGES CITY TO BUY DANIELS BLDG.

As a means of eliminating the bottle neck at Pine and Commercial streets and to open up a better approach to the new court house the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a petition to the city council to authorize the purchase by the city of the Daniels lot and brick building situated at the corner of Pine and Commercial streets. The petition asks that the council take such steps as are lawful to provide for money not in excess of $8000 to make the purchase. The property in question has a 20 foot frontage on Commercial street and a depth of 110 feet along Pine street. The removal of all buildings on the property and the paving, widening, and grading of Pine and Church streets so as to include all of these premises is further asked in the petition.

No plan for financing the project was put forth by the chamber although the sponsoring of the petition was unanimously approved by all members present at the meeting. The method of raising money is to be left to the city council.

Anyone wishing to sign the petitions can do so by calling at the Nugget or the Union offices where there are copies of the petition.

John Marks was able to be down town this week the first time since December 19. He has been confined to his home with, first a bad fall on his injured knee and then the flu.

SACRAMENT, Jan. 21. — A new grocer-grower cooperative designed to provide direct contact between Northern California fruit and vegetable growers and their marketing outlets filed articles of incorporation last week with the secretary of state. The $1,500,000 organization will be known as the Associated Growers and Grocers, Inc. Headquarters will be in Sacramento and operations nationwide.

Included in the list of incorporators are E. S. Beckett of Loomis, grower and former shipper; Glenn E. Kirkpatrick of Sacramento, shipper; Ernest M. Kimberlin of Sacramento, former shipper; J. L. Russill of Sacramento, shipper; Everett E. Campbell of Walnut Grove, grower and shipper; Dr. R. G. Pearson of Sacramento, grower and Fontaine Johnson, general consul.

A $446,466,507 state budget was submitted to the legislature for the 1937-39 biennium by Governor Frank F. Merriam, who also announced California will spend in addition $588,122,190 in federal allotments during the two years. He stated that if his fiscal recommendations are followed the treasury general fund two years from now will show a surplus of $21,000,000. The budget includes $233,570,720 for state grants to local governments, $78,651,118 for general fund departments, $85,669,890 for special fund departments and $48,574,779 for unemployment relief.

A measure to prohibit strikes and lockouts, and providing for a state industrial court with arbitrary powers and authority to summon all law enforcement agencies to execute its decisions has been presented to the legislature. California counties and the state highway fund received appropriations of $43,000,000 in 1936 from gasoline tax collections, an increase of $3,000,000 over 1935.

Two million dollars for the care of California's needy, aged, blind and dependent children has been authorized in Washington for the first three months of this year. The "in lieu" motor vehicle tax act has passed the California assembly with several important amendments, including: a three per cent limit for administration expenses; payment of tax by dealer from the date of purchase, and extending the law for two years only.

The development of Sacramento since August 12, 1839 when General John A. Sutter established his trading post and fort is to be the theme for a mammoth pageant to oe staged here, August 9-12, in connection with the entennial celebration during 1939. The Rogers Producing Company of Fostoria, Ohio, has been signed to stage the "Progress Pageant," involving a cast of 3,000 persons. The company will furnish professional coaches and directors, all costumes, scenery and other production needs. Several hundred members of the cast are expected to come from the historic Mother Lode towns surrounding Sacramento.

Two paintings, said by the Directory-Manager Harry Noyes Pratt to be the most valuable donations to the Crocker Art Gallery since the collections was established, were accepted this week by the city from Samuel H. Kress foundation of New York. The paintings, four feet high by 15 inches wide, are of two Bishop-Saints of the 15th century and were done 445 years ago by Saturnino d'Gatti, an Umbrian painter. They will not be exhibited until the gallery is renovated and a suitable place made ready for them.

Tevis Paine was named assistant secretary manager of the California State Fair with instructions to serve as acting secretary manager of the exposition pending the appointment of a permanent successor to his father, Charles H. Paine, who retired January 1. A bill before the legislature provides $60,000 for a new gubernatorial mansion on the Capital park grounds. Gross sales of the California Fruit Exchange for the year 1936 gained nearly $4,000,000 above the figures of the preceding year, according to General Manager J. L. Nagle.

Governor Merriam and Consul Kanzo Shiokazi of Japan, officially instituted the newly organized Pacific Society at a formal dinner meeting held here last week. The new society composed of second generation Japanese business and professional men, was formed to create a better understanding and friendlier relations between the American people and the Japanese.

More than 200 certificates were delivered Saturday to Sacramento business firms established in this city for 25 years or more. On January 25 the firms will be honored at the second annual dinner of the Quarter Century Club of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. Sacramento Valley has won nation-wide recognition for the number of firms which have been in business continually over such a long period of time.

SPAN TOLL CUT AS RFC SLASHES RATE ON LOAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—Pointing out that the reduction of the 65 cent toll for automobiles on the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge to 50 cents was made possible by the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in granting the request of the California Toll Bridge Authority for a permanent lowering of the interest rate on the government's $72,000,000 bridge loan from 4¾ per cent to 4 per cent, State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, in a statement issued today, said that if business on the San Francisco bay span at the end of the ensuing six months warrants and the traffic estimate continues to be verified, Governor Frank F. Merriam and the Authority will ask for a further reduction in bridge tolls.

Director Kelly said:

"The contract made by the State of California with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a $72,000,000 loan with which to build the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge bound the California Toll Bridge Authority to bridge rates that would enable the state to repay the debt in addition to meeting the interest payments on the government bonds.

"One of the cardinal purposes of the Toll Bridge Authority was to establish bridge rates as low as possible consistent with its obligation to meet these payments and thus fulfill its contract with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"The 65 cent toll was based on an exhaustive study made by traffic experts selected by the corporation. There was no other basis upon which to predicate revenues at the time the rate was established except the report of these experts.

"It always has been the intention of the Toll Bridge Authority to reduce toll rates as fast as bridge traffic justifies. Any reduction, of necessity, would have to be based on the bridge revenues. The Authority has never considered the questionable proposal of reducing rates by drawing upon state gas tax funds.

"The Toll Bridge Authority showed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that California intended to keep faith by establishing a 65 cent rate. Meanwhile, travel over the bridge indicated that some reduction in tolls might safely be made in the near future, but the Authority felt that the most practical and immediate step in the direction of reduced tolls was to secure, if possible, a reduced interest rate on the government loan.

"The authority sent its Chief Engineer, C. H. Purcell, and its attorney, Florence F. McAuliffe, to Washington to request the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a reduction in interest rates in keeping with the lower trend of loan rates made on other public works projects. Mr. Purcell and Mr. McAuliffe succeeded in getting the approval of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a reduction of the bridge tolls from 65 cents to 50 cents based on lowered interest rates.

"The extraordinary revenues of the bridge during December gave some indication of what income might be anticipated after the novelty of the bridge following its opening on November 12 and the consequent rush of sightseers across it had subsided. If the November business could have been counted on to continue, the Toll Bridge Authority would have had no hesitancy in recommending a reduction of bridge tolls.

"However, the Authority is desirous of waiting for additional monthly traffic reports on which to establish a permanent toll rate. While the number of automomiles using the bridge in December fell off as was to be expected and the number of passengers carried dropped, this loss was offset by an increase in the truck and bus business and the tonage of freight transported.

"This increased haulage business may have been affected by local market conditions in December. If sustained during the next six months it will aid in arriving at a normal monthly traffic figure on which a corresponding adequate toll rate can be based.

"In the meantime, the Toll Bridge Authority is asking the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a further reduction in interest rates to 3½ per cent."

CLASS RINGS FOR HI JUNIORS

(By FRED GARRISON)

Annually every Junior Class of the Nevada City high school has the great joy of picking out and getting rings to symbolize the class. So, in line with the usual custom, the Class of 1938 of the high school chose their rings before Christmas and are now wearing the jewelry and are very proud of it.

The ring is an exceptionally beautiful ring. With a black stone background, the crest consists of the Nevada City high school seal in gold. The rest of the ring is gold with 19 beautiful carved on one side of the ring and 38 on the other. The initials, three of them, are stamped on the inside of the ring. They were made by the T. V. Allen company of Los Angeles.

The rings are durable and students will proudly wear them even after graduation, a reminder of their school days.

A TURN OF A CARD THAT MEANT - $400!

A year ago the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company inaugurated a door-way truck delivery system which, we are proud to say, met with the 100% approval of our patrons. Orders of Grass Valley and Nevada merchants, placed in San Francisco before four in the afternoon were received for delivery by the Narrow Gauge at 9 o'clock the following morning. A huge truck, with capacity of 17 tons was placed into service for freight hauling. The Nevada City-Auburn bus service has been an accomodation of long standing. Service! At no additional cost to receiver, yet—

The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad's card from the Vehicle Department of the State of California for 1936 demanded license fees totaling over $400!

To give users of freighting channels the best service possible, to cut down time schedules, to maintain lowest freighing costs, to render accomodation never dreamed of by the most optimistic—all this has been accomplished through expansion of operation and at no increase to the individual by our railroad.

That sum of $400 and more was an amount willingly paid by a railroad that places friendliness of business association above all else.

SEARCHLIGHT PUBLISHED

Last week the Nevada City high school Searchlight was published by the staff. Although the paper is a mimeographed affair, it showed great improvement over all former issues of the Searchlight. Splendid art work and articles writing was noted by all who read it. Mary Lou Draper, local art editor, had charge of the art work. On the front page a picture of the high school was printed.

The appointments were made by the editor, Fred Garrison, last week in the staff personnel. They were: Catherine Stephens, assistant editor and Vella Flindt, girls' sports editor.

I Wonder

I wonder about this and that,
I wonder every day;
I wonder why and when and where,
I wonder when I pray;
And often when my radio
Tears peace of mind asunder,
I stand or sit before the thing
Completely lost in wonder.

I wonder why so many innane programs are allowed to interfere with the distinctive effects of perfectly good static.

I wonder, when listening to football classics, if we Americans are not taking higher education a bit too seriously.

I wonder why crooners croon and why entertainers laugh so boisterously at their own wise cracks.

I wonder why the sound purvevor indicates the approach of a non-existent train with such ear splitting realism; why can't the M. C. say "choo, choo, toot, toot," and let it go at that?

I wonder why children's programs are almost invariably bad.

I wonder why light and frothy programs are given so much time while educational broadcasts are limited to fifteen minutes or less.

I wonder why I don't turn the dial when annoyed—I've been advised to.

I wonder if any dictionary contains a dainty, poetical rhyme for galoshes.

I've done so much good wondering
It should be now decreasing,
Instead each day in every way
It goes right on increasing.

FREEZE CUTS WATER SUPPLY

Nevada City has awakened the last few mornings to days of freezing cold and frozen water pipes throughout their homes. Snow ground fine in the roads blows about like dust. Several inches of snow on the ground is as dry as powder and the sunny days fail to melt it.

Thermometers sank to new low levels Wednesday night giving Nevada City the coldest weather to be recorded in years. A record of one frosty night in 1898 gave a 4 degrees above. However weather forecasts are for warmer weather Sunday and a break in the cold snap, for this city.

A new record was set when it registered 3 degrees below at the Plaza Garage Thursday morning and zero at the Martine home on Park avenue. Prospect Hill registered 2 degrees above zero.

Complaints came in that there was no water in Nevada City Wednesday night, but city officials stated many in the lower section of town left taps open during the night draining the Canada Hill reservoir and also taking the 160 inches of water running into the reservoir from the mountain streams. Some idea can be gained by the fact that 160 inches means 1600 gallons of water per minute.

The local officers shut down the gates at the two northern reservoirs during the night Wednesday when it was discovered there was so much draining out into the waste pipes, in order to protect the city from fire any any emergency that might arise. There has been plenty of water for the city until the sudden cold spell. During yesterday forenoon 80 inches of water was permitted to run from the northern reservoirs to assist in filling city water pipes.

Nevada Irrigation district crews removing ice and snow from the Snow Mountain ditch that carries water to the northern reservoirs of Nevada City, Thursday night turned "anchor ice" through the shooot above the upper reservoir on Sugar Loaf. It piled up until it was severarl feet high on the North Bloomfield road. In investigating it Supervisor C. S. Arbogast stated the N. I. D. had a crew removing the ice from the road early Thursday forenoon.

AUTO SALESMAN IS MUCH WANTED

Walter Ira Oates, automobile salesman of Grass Valley, who disappeared a few days ago, according to Sheriff Carl Tobiassen is wanted on a charge of embezzling an automobile and for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Oates disappeared, the sheriff states, with a 19-year-old wife, Mrs. Pearl Beckendorf, whose husband shot himself when he discovered her missing. His attempt at suicide, however, failed and he is now recovering from his wound.

The sheriff is sending circulars out describing Oates as about 40 years of age, height five feet, six inches, grey eyes, light brown hair, high forehead, round face and even teeth. When he left he was driving a 1937 Pontiac, 4-door sedan.

Oates is also wanted by the United States marshal in San Francisco and Los Angeles on three felony counts.

Carl A. Libbey has been confined to bed with the flu for almost a week. He has not been to his office at the Nevada County Lumber Company this week but is much improved and will be up soon.

Kendall left last week for Ontario, Canada, to be superintendent of the Northern Empire mine which is also operated by the Newmont mining company. Walter Mildred has been advanced to safety engineer taking the place left vacant by Newlove's promotion.

HITCH HIKING GIRLS DETAINED AND SENT HOME

A desire to see the bay bridges and the wonders of California put two seventeen year old Salt Lake girls in the juvenile ward of the county jail Tuesday. Officers at the California highway checking station outside of Truckee were told in a telegraphic warrant from chief of police of Salt Lake City that the girls were hitch hiking to San Francisco. They were picked up at the station and separated from the Texas family with whom they were riding. The girls, Ruth Yowell and Ruth Hoffman, were turned over to Deputy Sheriff Tom Dolly of Truckee who, with his wife, brought them to Nevada City. An officer from Salt Lake City arrived yesterday to take the girls home.
